KEYNOTE SPEAKERS

ANDREW THOMAS

Andrew is the General Manager of Philanthropy at Perpetual, where he oversees over 450 trusts and funds, and The Perpetual Foundation. He is currently on the Board of Brisbane's Royal Children's Hospital Foundation.

PAUL RONALDS

Paul is the First Assistant Secretary of the Office of Work & Family in the Department of Prime Minister & Cabinet (which houses the new Office for the Non-Profit Sector) where he is in the front line of the government's red tape reform agenda.

STEPHEN MAYNE

Stephen is a City of Manningham councillor, governance expert, award-winning journalist, media contributor, and outspoken shareholder activist. He is perhaps best known for founding Crikey, Australia's groundbreaking independent news outlet.

THE HON. JOAN KIRNER AM

A former Premier of Victoria, Joan is a veteran in the fight for equity and inclusion, women's rights, educational equality, community development and the environment. She is currently the Victorian Communities Ambassador.

MIKE BOOTH

Mike teaches in the School of Accounting at QUT, where he is undertaking research into the financial viability of nonprofits. Previously, he was Assistant Commissioner at the ATO, and has worked in HR, IT, accounting, auditing and management roles.

PATRICK MORIARTY

Patrick heads up Our Community's training team, each year going face-to-face with hundreds of grassroots grantseekers across the nation. Patrick is also a skilled grant assessor and consultant, board member and community volunteer.

TONY SMITH

Tony began his career in welfare before moving to local government in the 1980s. He's worked in community development across four NSW councils and currently manages a large grants program at Bankstown City Council.

JOANNE McNEILL

A 2009 Churchill Fellow, Joanne's role as Community Capacity Building Officer – Social Enterprise at Parramatta City Council is the first of its kind in Australia. She co-authored Australian Stories of Social Enterprise.

GERARD AULD

Gerard is Grants and Recreation Officer at Moyné Shire Council. Around 20 years ago, he made a seachange and moved to Koroit in Victoria's southwest, swapping engineering roles for his current position in 2006.

CORY BECKER

Cory has extensive experience in community development, partnership development, stakeholder management and community service delivery, as well as development of funding submissions and management of community grants programs.

GREG DRAKE

Greg is Associate Director in the Public Policy practice at Urbis, where he has undertaken a number of local government grants program reviews. Before becoming a consultant, Greg worked in an array of community planning type roles.

KATE CALDECOTT

Kate is a member of the founding team of Our Community and the Executive Director of the Australian Institute of Grants Management, where she is working to drive grantmaking reform in Australia.

SIMON HERD

Simon is the Director of Grantmaking Reform at the AIGM, where he is working on the ongoing development and enhancement of the AIGM's best practice grants management system, SmartyGrants.

FIONA DEMPSTER

Fiona is a Director of the Australian Institute of Grants Management, a grantmaking and social inclusion consultant, and a former Ministerial Adviser with more than 10 years experience in program management and delivery.

BARRY SMITH

Barry is a Director of the Australian Institute of Grants Management, a grantmaking and social inclusion consultant and a former senior public servant with more than 30 years experience in government grantmaking.

ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

Grantmaking will never be the same again. Right across Australia, we are witnessing a groundswell of enthusiasm for grantmaking reform. The AIGM is helping to drive this reform - but we know we're not alone.

Come to the Grantmaking in Australia Conference 2012 and add your voice to the emerging conversation about the future of grantmaking in Australia.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

- Hear what's new and what's next in the grantmaking reform agenda
- Discover new approaches to key grantmaking tasks
- Meet your peers and swap war stories, tips and tools
- Learn about the latest developments in grantmaking technology
- Contribute your expertise

WHO WILL BENEFIT:

- Local Government grantmakers, grants administrators, assessment panel participants, councillors
- State Government grants officers, funding program managers and administrators
- Federal Government grants officers, funding program managers and administrators
- Philanthropic, Corporate & Community Foundation staff and board members with an interest in government grantmaking
- Auditors and others with an interest in grantmaking and government funding processes

“A very good conference, a lot of energy, passion and great ideas. Very well organised, great food.”

2011 Grantmaking in Australia Conference attendee

“Fantastic, this conference has provided a ‘light bulb’ of so many ideas.”

THE PROGRAM

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 2012, 9AM-4PM

8.30 - 9.00 AM

COFFEE/TEA & REGISTRATION

9.00 - 9.15 AM

INTRODUCTION

VIVE LA REVOLUTION: Why the time for grantmaking reform is NOW

Fiona Dempster, Director, Australian Institute of Grants Management (AIGM)

The AIGM this year released a Grantmaking Toolkit, complete with 20 best practice policy-building templates, and a Grantmaking Manifesto, which includes a template Code of Practice for Professional Grantmakers, and a Code of Practice for Grantmaking Agencies. Hear how these initiatives (and the many more to come) can help you to achieve best practice in your own grantmaking program.

9.15 - 10.00 AM

KEYNOTE
PRESENTATION

SLICING THE RED TAPE: A bold new agenda

Paul Ronalds, First Assistant Secretary, Office of Work and Family, Department of Prime Minister & Cabinet

The Federal Government is powering towards a red tape reform agenda that will see the introduction of common funding agreements, global budgets, and cross-department contracts. In this session you'll learn what's ahead and what all other grantmakers, whatever their size or complexity, can learn from these game-changing reforms.

10.00 - 10.30 AM

Q&A SESSION

NEXT PRACTICE: This year's best ideas in grantmaking

The Hon. Joan Kirner AM, Former Victorian Premier

Applications for the AIGM's 2012 Grantmaker of the Year Award came from all parts of Australia, from philanthropic, government and community grantmaking sectors, and from grantmakers of vastly varying sizes. Applicants were asked to put forward their ideas for taking grantmaking forward into a new era. Join Former Victorian Premier Joan Kirner for the announcement of the winner of the 2012 Grantmaker of the Year Award, and hear the winner's ideas for transforming grantmaking in Australia.

PRESENTATION

A BIRD'S EYE VIEW: Moving grantmaking forward

Andrew Thomas, General Manager - Philanthropy, Perpetual

As the manager of more than 450 charitable trusts, distributing more than $45 million each year, Perpetual knows a thing or two about bringing grantmakers with specific social aims together with not-for-profit organisations that can help to breathe life into those aims. Perpetual's assessment of potential grantees is centred on the organisation, rather than the individual project. In this session, Perpetual's general manager of philanthropy, Andrew Thomas, will provide his lessons for other grantmakers considering taking that approach, and detail the key changes that he believes need to happen to take strategic grantmaking forward.

CONCURRENT SESSIONS

1. RISKY BUSINESS: How far will you go?

Barry Smith, Director, Australian Institute of Grants Management

As the AIGM Grantmaking Manifesto states, grantmakers should be prepared to take risks. That's not to say they should be reckless - grantmakers should understand, and be comfortable with, the risks they're taking. In this session, you'll learn the key things you need to consider when assessing the financial, ethical and reputational implications of your grantmaking.

2. FEEDBACK: Balancing what's possible with what's fair

Patrick Moriarty, Executive Director, Institute of Community Directors Australia (ICDA)

The possibilities for feedback start from the moment an organisation submits an application for a grant, and doesn't end until well after the whole thing's done and dusted. In reality, though, few grantmakers can afford the time to provide detailed feedback to every grantseeker at every point in the process. How much is enough? In this session, you'll learn the 10 things you must do to fulfil your obligations as a responsible, responsive grantmaker.

THE NAKED TRUTH: Surviving and thriving in the real world of grantmaking

Stephen Mayne, Councillor, shareholder activist and governance expert

Amidst all the talk about transparency, access, equity and good governance, we must not forget the seedier side of grantmaking: politics, lobbyists, conflicts. Stephen Mayne is a councillor and governance expert who is not afraid to tell it like it is. Hear his take on how to survive in the real world of grantmaking.

“Probably the best conference in any sector I’ve been to ever. Professional, practical, interactive, good venue and well catered.”

ABOUT THE CONFERENCE ORGANISERS

This conference is an initiative of the Australian Institute of Grants Management (AIGM), the best practice network for government and local government grants managers and grantmakers.

The AIGM is working to help grantmakers review and improve their grants programs, and keep abreast of best practices both within Australia and internationally.

The AIGM is a division on Our Community, a world-leading social enterprise that provides advice, tools and training for Australia's 600,000 community groups and schools, and practical linkages between the community sector and the general public, business and government.

As well as overseeing a number of grantmaking affinity groups, the AIGM's major offerings include:

- SmartyGrants – Australia's best practice online grantmaking system, currently used by hundreds of grants program of all types and sizes across the country and internationally.
- Grants Management Quarterly (GMQ) – plain language publication tracking best practices in grantmaking across Australia and from all over the world.
- Grantmaking Toolkit – an all-in-one decision-making framework, workbook (including policy building templates), and check-up tool designed to walk grantmakers through the process of building, reviewing or refreshing a grants program.
- Grantmaking Knowledge Bank – searchable listing of best practice thinking and case studies.
- Grants in Australia Survey – annual survey of grantseekers tracking the performance of the field of grantmaking throughout Australia.
- Grantmaking Manifesto – including Codes of Practice for Professional Grantmakers and Grantmaking Organisations.

While every attempt will be made to deliver this conference as advertised, please be aware that sometimes events beyond our control may cause changes to the program or schedule.
